

Shortway Line Set From Sharon To Crescent Lake

By Leonard A. Unger HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Highways Department yesterday set up a section-by-section priority list for the Keystone Shortway that calls for construction to start in June and wind up in 10 to 12 years. Bids will be asked early in May for a portion of the Stroudsburg Bypass to serve as the eastern terminus of the 300-mile east-west superhighway and by next November for a portion of a 27-mile bypass north of Brookville in Jefferson County. The superhighway, running from Stroudsburg to Sharon, would cost an estimated 270 million dollars with the federal government putting up 90 per cent of the funds. "In the establishment of the construction schedule we have based our decisions strictly on the scientific engineering data developed by the consultants and the traffic information which has been compiled by department experts," said Lewis M. Stevens, highways secretary. He said the department has worked closely with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in setting up the priority list but explained that actual dates for starting construction of various sections is a matter for the future. First work will be on the Stroudsburg Bypass for which a public hearing was held last January. The bypass will run from the Delaware River to the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Borough line. From there, a four-lane road will proceed to near Crescent Lake, northwest of Tannersville in Monroe County, and serve as the route for both the Shortway and the Penn-Can. Highway, a north-south route that runs into Canada. The Penn-Can Highway would run from Stroudsburg to Binghamton, N. Y., via Scranton. Stevens said Crescent Lake would serve as an interchange for the two roads. Stevens said in his report: "The Keystone Shortway route will follow a line from Sharon to an interchange at Crescent Lake in Monroe County, approximately three miles northwest to Tannersville. "It will continue from there in a general southeasterly direction to the connection with the western terminus of the Stroudsburg Bypass. "From Crescent Lake this is a dual purpose road, taking the Shortway traffic and the traffic from the north to the proposed new route to Scranton and beyond, known as the Penn-Can Highway." Bids would be asked before November on a 13-mile section of the Penn-Can Highway from the Crescent Interchange to the Tobyhanna Signal Depot. The Brookville Bypass would serve as a relocation of U. S. Route 322 west of Reynoldsville and north of Brookville. The department then set up separate priority lists for the eastern and western sections of the Shortway. It explained that projects may be chosen consecutively or alternately from either end of the state depending on need. The priority list for the eastern section includes: 1. A 15-mile section between the proposed Crescent Lake interchange westward to U. S. Route 115, near Blakeslee. 2. A 5-mile section from U. S. Route 115 westward to the Northeastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Lake Harmony. 3. A 15-mile section from the Turnpike westward about 18 miles to intersect U. S. Route 309 north of Hazleton. 4. An intersection where the shortway would cross the proposed Anthracite Expressway near Drums, Luzerne County. 5. From the Anthracite Expressway, the Shortway would go west about 20 miles, cross the north branch of the Susquehanna River and link up with U. S. Route 11 southwest of Berwick. 6. From U. S. Route 11, the Shortway would continue west about 33 miles to Watson, Northumberland County. The section includes building a bridge across the west branch of the Susquehanna River between Watson and White Deer, Union County, linking it with U. S. Route 15. 7. The final priority on the list is a 30-mile section between U. S. Route 15 near White Deer to a point near Mill Hall, Clinton County, so that it hooks up with U. S. Route 220.

Borough Takes New Look At Flood Control

By Leonard Randolph STROUDSBURG Council agreed to "take up the matter" of its possible participation in a flood control project for Brodheads and McMichael Creeks at its regular meeting Wednesday night. This was the main development in a last-ditch effort last night to save the $2,800,000 project for this area. Local costs are estimated at $211,000—less 16 percent of the total. Councilmen from both boroughs and County Commissioners attended last night's meeting at Stroudsburg Municipal Building. Chairman of the meeting was Glenn Sanborn Jr., head of a "citizens committee" which was originally asked to raise an estimated $70,000 to save the project. Funds Sought Elsewhere Unless local participation is assured by April 15, State Department of Forests and Waters officials have told local government (and Sanborn) that the money will be allocated elsewhere. There are about six communities in other areas in the state who have their local participation committed and are ready to start work. Both East Stroudsburg (with a $29,900 share) and the county (with an initial commitment of $71,000) have passed resolutions agreeing to pay their share of the costs of local participation. Stroudsburg has refused on the grounds that it doesn't have the money. Last night, however, Borough Council President Edward Lawson told the group that he "resented" the thought that "we're passing the hat for the borough of Stroudsburg." This was a reference to efforts by Sanborn's committee to raise funds to offset the cost of relocating power lines belonging to Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. The utility company has refused to shoulder these costs, on legal grounds and because it does not wish to "set a precedent." Sanborn seemed also to endorse that stand last night, as did J. L. Kerlin, a member of the committee. Lawson voiced criticism of PP & L's role in the affair. "I personally had expected a bit more generous attitude on the part of the utility company," he said. "But the contribution to which they agree is so indefinite." Sanborn said "they haven't said I'll give you $1 or $1,000. They have taken the position that once a public solicitation is made they will be there. In my dealings with the utility, they have been most cooperative. I might add, I think PP & L is most anxious to have this project go through." Stroudsburg Councilman J. O. Groner asked: "Are they saying we should get help from private people?" Sanborn replied: "They're saying that if the Borough decides it cannot handle the job, then some solicitation should be made. As the committee was set up, our job was to raise $70,000 . . . and that was to be turned over to Stroudsburg." No Poor Relations Said Lawson: "I sort of take exception to the Borough of Stroudsburg being considered poor relations here. I think we've already been over-generous." At this point East Stroudsburg Burgess Jesse R. S. Flory said: "I don't think there was any intent of that. Let's not waste any time here on it. This is something we all need. If you're in trouble, we're all in trouble." Groner then said: "Yes, but this doesn't include Pocono Creek. What are we going to be asked to give when that comes along?" Stroudsburg solicitor George T. Robinson commented: "The editorial in the newspaper today said that the two boroughs are being asked to assume responsibility for certain amounts of money but that's not true. They're being asked to take on responsibilities, including land damages, for which the costs are not known." There was considerable argument on this point before the parties attending finally agreed that the State Department's figures were intended only as estimates or as guides to the probable costs. Several of those in attendance agreed that the figures might very likely be higher than the actual costs will be. At one point in the meeting, Sanborn attempted to point out that the State has made "every effort to lower the costs as far as it can" for the local communities. At one time the estimated local cost was $400,000 but it is now at its "irreducible minimum," he said. A great deal of confusion resulted when an attempt was made to "nail down" a set of figures on pro-rated shares in costs of the project. County Solicitor L. A. Achtermann at one point told the group: "The last time we were here, I suggested that Stroudsburg Council say that when assessments are raised they would issue Councilmanic bonds or put it on the ballot for a bond issue and let the people vote on it. "The bond issue never went on the ballot because we never received any request from council. This thing has been kicking around for nine months. We've had a pretty good idea for some time what was needed. The people could be voting on it by now," he said. Lost Work Back Sanborn asked Lawson if he wanted to say something about the borough's borrowing power. Lawson said: "I lost you way back along the line somewhere." Achtermann then asked: "What objection does the Borough of Stroudsburg have to floating a bond issue for flood control?" "We're trying to make Stroudsburg a place in which people can afford to live," Lawson said. Lawson then said that he felt the County should assume a greater portion of the cost of the project "because it has greater taxing power."

Car Plate Deadline Extended

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Revenue Department Monday extended for two additional days — to midnight April 2 — the deadline for the use of 1957 automobile license plates. Revenue Secretary Vincent G. Panati said the 48-hour postponement was needed to clear the handling of auto license tags which have been sent to persons with non-deliverable addresses. The department declined to estimate how many such applications were involved. As of the close of business Monday, the department processed 3,175,000 plates — about 200,000 more than it handled last year.

Two Injured In Crash At Avoca

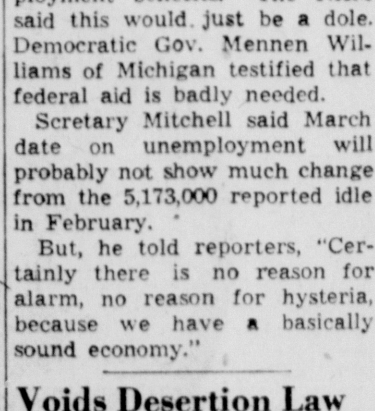

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A dual-engine U. S. Air Force transport plane crashed on landing at the Avoca Airport Monday. Two crew members were reported injured. There were no passengers aboard. Airport aides said the military Convair radioed Avoca that it was coming into the airport for a landing with one engine out. The plane approached the field from the southwest, and according to reports, missed the main runway. It set down about 10 feet from the mile-long runway, and ran on the grassy border for about 1,000 feet before plunging over an embankment. The craft slid about 60 feet down the bank. In its plunge, the plane — based at Griffis Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y. — narrowly missed an instrument landing system shack at the edge of the runway.

Anti-Recession Measure Wins Approval Of House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House yesterday passed an administration bill to speed up the spending of $40 million dollars on government equipment and supplies. It was requested by President Eisenhower as an anti-recession measure, to get the money into the business stream months earlier than would otherwise be the case. Some Democrats said they didn't think it would help much. Passage came on a voice vote, with not much debate. In other major developments: Month of Decision 1. Secretary of Labor Mitchell indicated that April may be the month of decision on whether the administration will propose a tax cut. "If and when a next big step is necessary certainly this is one that should be seriously considered," Mitchell told a news conference. 2. The Senate Banking Committee approved a bill to lend up to one billion dollars to municipalities for public works projects. The maximum interest rate would be 3 1/2 percent. Under present similar programs the rate ranges from 4 1/4 to 4 3/4 percent. 3. The National Assn. of Manufacturers presented testimony against bills for federal payment for emergency unemployment benefits. The NAM said this would just be a dole. Democratic Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan testified that federal aid is badly needed. Secretary Mitchell said March date on unemployment will probably not show much change from the 5,173,000 reported idle in February. But, he told reporters, "Certainly there is no reason for alarm, no reason for hysteria, because we have a basically sound economy."

New Date For Tucker Trial Is Delayed

SCRANTON (AP) — U. S. District Judge John W. Murphy yesterday postponed a meeting with counsel of both sides to establish a new trial date for former Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker. Federal court sources said the session slated for Monday will be held "within the next few days." A second trial was necessitated by a hung jury which deliberated for seven hours Saturday. Tucker is charged by the government with illegally accepting gifts from contractors while he was supervising construction of the Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna, Monroe County.

Army Plans Shakeup Of Division

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army announced yesterday a controversial plan to drop six National Guard divisions and four reserve divisions in a sweeping reorganization. The shakeup will also eliminate several hundred lesser units of civilian soldiers. Secretary of the Army Brucker said in a statement that 30 months will be required to carry out the program. The plan is to convert all guard and reserve divisions into regular Army's divisions now composed of five battle groups each. Exactly which divisions and units will be dropped hasn't been determined, a spokesman said. The reorganization will leave the National Guard with 21 divisions and the reserve with six divisions. The Army said, however, that six National Guard divisions headquarters, presumably in the states from which manned divisions will be dropped, will be retained to supervise the training of the smaller units that will be left. U.S. Rejects Soviet Move On A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States rejected Monday Russia's invitation to join in halting nuclear tests without bothering to check up on each other. In diplomatic tones, the State Department called the Kremlin move so much propaganda hot air, whose only aim was to win Western defense. The uncompromising rejection of this bid was balanced somewhat by an olive branch approach to a summit conference. The department made public a Western Big Three note to the Kremlin which, for the first time, leaned toward the Russian formula for pre-summit talks. Nikolai Bulganin's last note as Soviet Premier to President Eisenhower on Feb. 28 emphasized that any pre-summit foreign ministers meeting must be strictly limited to fixing an agenda, time, place and roster of participants at the summit. Rejected Before This was rejected many times by Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles and formally snubbed in the U. S. memo March 6 to Moscow. But Monday's U. S. — British-French note pointedly omitted words like "negotiate" and "substantive." It substituted "preparatory work" and "examine the position" for "negotiate," and it emphasized, as far as dealing with substantive matters went, that no decisions were sought at below-summit level. It offered to start Big Four Ambassadorial talks in Moscow in late April. And it said "the foreign ministers, assuming they have concluded the preparatory work to their satisfaction, would reach agreement on the date and place of the summit meeting and decide on its composition." Reaction to Russia's announced plan to suspend nuclear tests came from two leading House members of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, Chairman Durham (D-NC) and Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.). Both called the Russian proposal a phony. The official U. S. statement raised this question: "Why should the world place confidence in new Soviet engagements?" Russia could hardly expect the free world to surrender its fighting capacity, the statement added, "merely in reliance on a Soviet statement of intentions for which there is no system of verification, which can be evaded in secrecy and altered at will." The thing for Russia to do, the United States said, is to tackle disarmament "in an orderly way" — that is, by ending its boycott of U.N. disarmament efforts. MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Russia told the world today it is stopping all nuclear weapons tests—but left the door open to resume them unless other powers take the same step. The Soviet Union set no date for its go-it-alone ban and it may endure no longer than the first blast in a new series the United States will start in the Pacific, possibly within a few weeks. A resolution submitted to the Supreme Soviet — Parliament — from the Council of Ministers by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was adopted unanimously.

Commission Criticizes Stroudsburg Council

COUNTY Commissioners yesterday voiced strong criticism of Stroudsburg Borough's failure, up to that time, to find ways to finance its share of the Brodheads - McMichael's flood control project. Commissioners agreed, months ago, to finance a third of the total local costs—about $70,000. East Stroudsburg agreed to meet its share — about $18,000. But Stroudsburg has claimed that it doesn't have sufficient borrowing power. The borough has maintained that it could raise no more than $35,000. In their discussion of the $2,800,000 control project for The Stroudsburgs, members of the Commission expressed the view that Stroudsburg should have placed the question of a bond issue to finance its share before voters. County Solicitor L. A. Achtermann then told commissioners: "I don't understand why the Borough of Stroudsburg didn't put themselves into a position to float a bond issue. They could have had it on this (May 20) primary ballot." Commissioner Willard Quick said: "Well, that's not the point. They claim they can't float a bond issue large enough because of their assessed value." "That's not true," Achtermann said. "They're talking about the 2 percent law. But that pertains to what the Council can do on a resolution of its own. That gives them the right to float bonds up to 2 percent of their assessed value. "If the money they need is more than that all they have to do is go to the voters and get the bond issue approved. Then they can go to 7 percent of the assessed value," he said. "At that they're saying is that they can't borrow enough at 2 percent of assessed value." Achtermann and Commission chairman John R. Lesoine agreed on a key point: That Stroudsburg had been given "plenty of time" to get the bond issue question on the ballot. "Secretary of Forests and Waters Goddard told us in Scranton (at the employment conference) that the Borough of Stroudsburg has been holding up this project for seven months — it's eight months, now," Lesoine said. W. Adolph Rake, minority commissioner, interjected with: "Well, aren't they enthusiastic about it?" Achtermann replied: "I think they're enthusiastic all right — enthusiastic to have the county pay it for them." County Commissioners have placed a $20,000 item in the county budget for this year. It is earmarked entirely for flood control. Out of that $20,000 will come the cost of pipe and small improvements on the Pocono Creek control project to the rear of Pocono Diner. The remainder would be used as the County's payment toward the Brodheads-McMichael's work, in part. Commissioner Lesoine and the solicitor cleared up one other item on flood control yesterday morning. Lesoine asked: "Do we have the legal right to commit another board of commissioners on this project?" Achtermann replied: "Of course. On a project such as this, where a substantial amount of money is needed, you have to be able to commit funds on a payment basis over a period of years. Otherwise you'd never get anything as badly-needed but expensive as this done."

Ike Vetoes Bill Freezing Farm Props

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower vetoed a bill to freeze crop price supports Monday without yielding an inch on his flexible farm program. Attacking the veto vigorously, congressional Democrats decided to take the issue to the home front during an April 3-4 Easter vacation before attempting an uphill effort to override the veto. In a message which Sen. Young (R - SD) told the Senate he assumed was actually written by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Eisenhower called the politically explosive bill "ill advised from the standpoint both of the nation and of our farm families." "With regard to government controls, what the farm economy needs is a thaw rather than a freeze," Eisenhower said. Wants to Help In a separate statement recorded for television and radio, the President said: "I vetoed this legislation because I wanted to help, not hinder, farm families in their efforts toward a balanced, more prosperous agriculture. It is my firm conviction that the situation today calls for forward — looking action — not enforced stagnation. We must improve the farm program—not freeze it." Without making any concessions to those in Congress who have contended that a scheduled decline in support levels would be a disastrous economic blow to farmers, Eisenhower repeated in his veto message his January appeal for enactment of a five — point program. Among other things that program would give Benson authority to reduce supports to even lower levels. The vetoed bill, which would have held price props and acreage allotments for one year at 1957 levels or higher, was the Democratic-controlled Congress' substitute for the Eisenhower - Benson program. An immediate effect of Eisenhower's action was to permit a reduction in dairy price supports to become effective at midnight. Benson ordered manufacturing milk supports dropped from 82 percent of parity to 75 percent. But support levels were ordered cut from 75 to 70 percent. Parity is a level designed by law to provide farmers with fair returns for their products in terms of the things they buy. Copter Rescues Four YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. Mergers Should Improve Schools

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles on Monroe County education. Each will be based on the results of the county-wide survey conducted by the author for The Daily Record.

By Leonard Randolph
DO LARGER school units—such as jointures or unions—bring about improvement in courses offered and their instruction?

Many Monroe County educators feel they do.

Since Monroe now is subdivided into four major "combined districts" for education purposes, the question may seem academic, anyway.

But these school jointures or unions still have not begun to utilize their new strength and "bigness" to its full advantage. The "improvements" are there in increased offerings of art, music, special instructions and shop facilities.

These are the major areas in which some immediate increase in "offerings" is most often noted.

Another area would be the initiation of kindergarten in schools once a larger district has been formed. This has been the case in Stroud Union District, where getting a kindergarten started became one of the primary aims of the new, larger district.

East Stroudsburg Area Jointure, too, has put the kindergarten near the top of the list. Such increases in service are major concerns of both the Pocono Mountain and the Pleasant Valley Jointures.

Why does the bigger unit increase the number of courses offered?

For one thing, although a lone school district can seldom afford a full-time art supervisor for elementary, it becomes financially feasible for a district to allot money for such a supervisor if he or she is to work with not one or two schools but a half-dozen.

The same rule of thumb may be applied to courses in music or other "extras." If it were not for the fact that

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College provides trainees (student teachers) in health education, the same would be true of supervised athletic programs in the grades to a larger degree than it now is.

In their comments on improving both "offerings" and "instruction," some classroom teachers lean heavily toward the combined district as a large part of the answer:

—Most small high schools are handicapped because of a limited course offering. To reach all fields, school units must combine and pool their resources to create units large enough to warrant a big school program.

—In the smaller high schools this (improvement) is difficult. Jointure is the answer in order to have different levels of learning and cut down on the overall teacher load.

—A larger unit naturally lends itself to improved offerings. Smaller units can do likewise with a larger faculty. Improved instruction comes from better prepared teachers or opportunity for "in-field" teachers to take courses. This means time and money and the latter is a big problem for many teachers.

—If we are to have improvement, we must consolidate schools to a point where better physical plants (school buildings) and facilities are feasible to offer varied courses.

Two Possibilities
Most of the teachers answering The Daily Record survey questionnaire are now employed in either a union or a joint school district. Their answers indicate one of two things:

1—That they feel the jointure or union of which they are part still has not put into effect the desired "improvements" or

2—That the changes are being made and the teachers feel they are workable and good.

Jesus Loved Them

Pontius Pilate Knew Jesus Was Innocent But Bowed To Wishes Of Bloodthirsty Mob

"Pilate therefore went forth again, and saith unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him."
—John XIX:4

By Patrick and Garrison
PONTIUS PILATE, who became procurator of Judea under Tiberius Caesar in A.D. 26, was a product of Roman society during the early Empire.

He was military in bearing, tactless, skeptical, arbitrary. Almost from the first day of his arrival in Judea, there existed an implacable hatred between him and the people he ruled.

He regarded the Jews with haughty contempt. From his point of view, they were a superstitious, refractory rabble wrangling among themselves over religious usages for which he felt only a profound scorn. Twice before the trial of Jesus, he had been forced to yield to the will of the populace, or risk open rebellion that might cost him his position.

The first time occurred when he brought army standards bearing the likeness of the Roman emperor into Jerusalem, thus profaning the holy city. After five days of uproar and rioting, he removed them.

On another occasion, the Jews forced him to remove a set of Roman votive tablets from Herod's palace, which he occupied in Jerusalem. The people appealed that time directly to Tiberius, who ordered them taken back to Caesarea.

Pilate knew that Jesus was innocent. He had secret spies among the people who had reported almost daily on the Nazarene's activities.

Moreover, there is good reason to believe that Pilate's wife, Claudia Procula, had actually met Jesus, and was one of His secret followers.

During the trial, she sent Pilate a message, warning him to "have nothing to do with that just man."

But, "when Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this man . . ."

In the most critical decision of his career, the "fearless shouting, factious, bloodthirsty Roman had again bowed to the mob."

Tradition says he never forgot this tragic hour. A few years afterward, in exile, "wearing with misfortunes," he killed himself.

Tomorrow: A Certain Young Man.

The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania

Earnings are NECESSARY but are not guaranteed!

The fact that we are the only telephone company in the areas we serve does not guarantee us a satisfactory level of earnings.

It is up to us:

- To operate economically
- To insure an adequate return on the money the public invests in the business
- To help contribute to a healthy economy by our local purchases and payroll
- To have telephone facilities available to meet your community's growth
- To obtain and keep good employees
- To develop new markets and products to meet changing customer needs

And, most important of all, it is up to us to see that you and your fellow citizens in Pennsylvania continue to have good telephone service.

No one guarantees any of these things.

They will come only as a result of sound management, good organization and equipment—together with earnings that enable us to help meet expansion requirements and to pay a reasonable dividend.

Ground Broken By Bank For New Arlington Branch

YESTERDAY MORNING, ground was broken for First-Stroudsburg National's new branch bank, on Route 611, just across from Mikels Motors.

The building, designed by local architects, Kiefer & Rinker, is being erected by contractor, Charles L. Frank. It is expected that the branch will be completed and in operation by early Fall.

Modern Equipment — To be known as the Arlington Branch of First-Stroudsburg National Bank, the branch will be thoroughly modern and completely equipped and manned to render the best banking service in every respect, President Frank Stackhouse said.

Thomas Berry, an official of the Doodle Hill Construction Co., issued the plea following a Sunday morning inspection of the span that led to a discovery of two heavily damaged cables. Berry and a crew of eight men worked throughout the day and into the night Sunday to splice and repair the damaged cables in an effort to have the foot bridge ready for use by students the following morning.

Potentially Dangerous — The damaged cables discovered Sunday represented a potentially serious condition, he remarked, one that could have eventually been responsible for collapse of the span.

Periodical inspection and counts of students crossing the foot-bridge, he said, has led to a theory that "jumping" up and down by high school as well as grade school pupils repeatedly has weakened the span.

This is the fourth or fifth foot-bridge erected in the same spot across Pocono Creek and according to Berry, "if used correctly, it will require only occasional maintenance."

Local Artist To Exhibit At Scranton

A PAINTING by a local artist Gloria Shafer Randolph, has been chosen for inclusion in a special regional show at the Everhart Museum in Scranton.

Mrs. Randolph's painting — a landscape titled "The Valley" — was one of a dozen by local artists on display in the recently-closed Hazleton Art League show.

The painting was chosen for the Scranton show by the judge, J. J. Brodie. He is curator of the Everhart Museum.

Shown Locally — Mrs. Randolph's landscape was seen locally in the most recent Wyckoff Art Exhibit where it was one of three paintings by this local artist on view. She is a resident of Stroudsburg RD 2, near Snyder'sville.

Other local artists whose work was hung in the Hazleton exhibit were: Nancy Hebard, Phoebe Conrad, Carla Holmgren, Dorothy Strauser, Katherine Johnson, Adele Katz, Sterling Strauss, Agnes Dyer and Henry Evans.

More Babies Suspected Of Having Germ

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Eight of the 16 babies born in Jefferson Davis Hospital in the past 24 hours are suspected of having the dread staphylococcus aureus germ, hospital officials reported Monday.

The germ causes a bacterial infection and resists the "miracle" drugs.

The officials stressed that the cases are suspect only. The lethal germ has claimed 19 lives in Houston, 17 of them at Jefferson Davis, since the first of the year.

A doctor and two graduate nurses were added to the list of carriers of staphylococcus which swept through the nursery. A hospital official said the three brought the total to five known carriers of strain 81 of the bacteria.

County Buys Tax Assessment Equipment

Time-Saving Device To Be Installed

MONROE COUNTY Commissioners agreed to buy a mechanical system for use in the county's new tax assessment program yesterday.

It is known as "Data-Flo." The system is manufactured by Underwood Corp.

It operates on a tape-punching and reading machine which will automatically "type" all necessary records for the assessment system. Also included is a "slave" unit which will reproduce portions of the records needed for local assessors.

The set includes a tape-punching and reading machine which will automatically "type" all necessary records for the assessment system. Also included is a "slave" unit which will reproduce portions of the records needed for local assessors.

Cuts Time Element — T. L. Payne, Underwood regional sales agent, told commissioners that the system would process 30,000 property assessment records in "about 33 hours."

The entire assessment office record work could be done in "about three weeks." This is opposed to an estimated three months under the present system.

John R. Lesoine, commission chairman, called the "Data-Flo" system, "more economical by far" than the plate-making devices now used by the County.

"A good typist can process records at least three times as fast using the tape-punch system as workers are now able to make the metal plates used on the present machines," Lesoine said.

Commissioners Willard Quick and W. Adolph Rake agreed that the Underwood equipment "is the best we've seen in operation."

Small Storage Space — With the machine, the county's entire assessment record files can be kept in a cabinet which is two feet by three feet. One girl can operate the entire system, freeing other clerks to work on other portions of the assessment office's work.

While the regular portion of the "Data-Flo" machine is reproducing the "tax duplicate" (four copies of which are to be made at one time) the "slave" unit will be typing the occupation assessment record which goes to the local assessor.

Under terms of the new equalization law, the local assessor will have nothing to do with assessment of properties. His sole concern will be in occupation levies.

Only a portion of the data required for the tax duplicate is needed for the occupation records. The machine automatically "blocks out" information which is not needed on the second record.

Reproduces Data — On the tax duplicate the machine will reproduce the property owner's name and address, plot and map numbers, real estate assessment, and will leave room for calculations.

One copy of the information is kept and bound as part of the county's permanent record file. The three duplicates go to the school board, Council or township supervisors and the County office.

The records will show exempt properties in the front of the book and an alphabetical listing of all property owners in the district, together with all information concerning properties owned.

Primary additional advantages to the purchase of the machine, commissioners said, are practical uses to which it may be put for county records.

In addition to record-keeping it can also be used for setting up and preparing the regular County payroll, if desired.

Dingmans Ferry Postoffice, Store Looted By Burglars

DINGMANS FERRY — State Police from the Milford barracks and federal authorities are investigating burglaries at a general store and the Dingmans Post Office, which occupy a building in the center of this community.

DINGMANS FERRY — Seven-year-old Clarence (Butch) Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hotalen, is a believer in helping those in need.

Yesterday afternoon, Butch walked into the store operated by Miss Grace Drake, which was burglarized sometime during the preceding night.

Approaching Mrs. Levi Jagger, an employee, Butch explained that he wanted to purchase a cake and laid 55 cents on the counter to pay for it.

Mrs. Jagger pointed out that the cake cost only 10 cents, but Butch had an answer: "You keep it. Miss Drake lost all her money and you'll need it for the cash register."

Washington Agrees To Jointure

BANGOR — Washington Township officials last night agreed to jointure agreement articles which will add that township's schools to the Bangor Area Joint School District.

Other members are Bangor, Roseto, Lower Mount Bethel Township and Upper Mount Bethel Township.

A five-point insertion into the articles of agreement was also approved.

Provisions — It will provide that each district will share in construction costs of schools at the market value of such construction; the new high school will be known as the Bangor Area Joint High School, eliminating other proposed names; all professional and custodial employees of the district will be retained; the joint school committee will include two to five members of each member board based on one for each 250 pupils or major portion thereof, and the jointure will become operative on July 1 of this year.

Dr. Nicholas Caserio, who conducted the meeting, was instructed to contact Walter Emery, president of the Portland School Board, and invite him to an April 11 meeting to discuss that borough becoming a member of the jointure.

Semi-Trailer Strikes Pole On Route 209

KRESGEVILLE — The driver of a semi-trailer sustained a bumped forehead when his vehicle left Route 209, about one-quarter of a mile east of here, and struck a telephone pole about 2:10 a. m. yesterday.

State Police of the Lehighon barracks identified him as Kevin S. Yarger, 64 Buffalo Road, Lewisburg. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1,500.

Police said the accident tore down lines of the Palmetton Telephone Co. and Pennsylvania Power and Light Co.

Lee Claims Trip Cost Him Money

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Robert E. Lee of the Federal Communications Commission testified he regularly winds up losing money on official trips even though he lets broadcasting interests pay his hotel bills.

Lee, a Republican, was the latest FCC member to appear before the House subcommittee on legislative oversight in its inquiry into relations between the commissioners and the industry they regulate.

Asked if he had been subjected to any improper influence or pressure, Lee replied: "I really can say that I've had very little trouble."

He added that he keeps a little card in his service which warns against discussing a pending case, and said he shows it to visitors any time it looks as though they might be approaching forbidden areas of conversation.

Lee said it would be impossible for any FCC member to do his job without personal contacts with radio-TV people.

And if an industry contact wants to take him to lunch, said Lee, a one-time FBI agent: "I have no compunction about his paying the check. I resent the feeling that I could be bought."

Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss) said Lee's accounting of his out-of-town expenses "appears to be a reasonable explanation."

Lee, who came here from Chicago in 1938 and has been in government work ever since, was a friend of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis). McCarthy's widow was a front-row spectator at today's session.

Lee was one of the four commissioners who voted last year to award the Miami Channel 10 TV license to a National Airlines subsidiary.

Hospital Board Reports New Wing To Open Soon

THE NEW $40,000 wing at the Monroe County General Hospital — containing six semi-private beds, a nursing station, auxiliary units and a recovery room — should be ready for use in the "very near future."

This was disclosed last night at the monthly meeting of the hospital's Board of Directors.

Construction of the wing, explained hospital superintendent Harry J. Smith, is part of the institution's program in expanding facilities to provide additional service to area communities.

New X-Ray Room — In another vein of expansion program, board members received and approved architects' plans for a second darkroom in the X-Ray Department. The additional room calls for an estimated $5,500 expenditure, officials said.

Heavy demand on x-ray developing and processing, they reported, necessitated the additional room.

Discussed in length by board members was a requirement for "speeding up paper work" in offices, nursing orders, and laboratories. Systems used in other hospitals will be studied, they said, for eventual revamping of the current program.

Presiding at last night's meeting in the absence of board president Frank LaBar was Edward C. Jenkins, vice-president. Members said LaBar was recovering from a recent illness.

Adoration Services Announced — MALE MEMBERS of St. Matthew's Catholic Church will hold an Hour of Adoration following services on Holy Thursday at 9 p. m. until midnight and on Good Friday from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m.

All men are invited to participate. A list of those taking part is being compiled by Anthony Archer, president of the Holy Name Society. He may be contacted at 270 prior to Wednesday night.

"Could you not, then, watch one hour with Me?" is the theme of the service.

Today as during the Passion and death of Christ nearly two thousand years ago this Divine invitation to men is an ever open one, from the Divine Master Himself to all of us mortals, Archer said.

Two Nabbed In Dynamiting Car — IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Police Monday accused two young men of trying to blow up a young mother with dynamite in order to collect her life insurance.

Charges of assault with intent to commit murder were filed against Monte D. Moore, 21, and Charles F. Feely Jr., 18, both of Idaho Falls.

Roene Gasser, 24-year-old divorcee, was driving a car containing her 15-month-old son when the auto was demolished by a dynamite blast. The baby was not injured. The woman is in fair condition in a hospital here.

Non ferrous metals, chemicals, aircrafts, motors, rubbers, oils and radio-televisions also were down.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 30 cents to $161.90 with the industrials off $1.40, the rails off $1.00 and the utilities unchanged.

Olin-Matheson was the most active stock off at 35 1/4 on 38,200 shares. Second was U.S. Hoffman Machinery, up 1/4 at 10 1/4 on 36,300 shares. Third was Lorillard, up 1/4 at 51 1/4 on 26,900 shares.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 720,000 shares compared with 710,000 Friday. Corporate bonds were mixed and U.S. Government issues declined.

Authorities Multiply

The Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia has just completed a review of the vast operation of municipal authorities throughout Pennsylvania.

It has discovered 1,200 of them are now in operation—with responsibility for constructing and managing such things as schools, airports, parking lots, swimming pools, buildings leased to government agencies, water works and sanitary disposal plants.

The use of authorities results from constitutional restrictions on public debt. They are a means of circumventing the legal limits imposed on the borrowing power of the state and its subdivisions.

They've spread fastest in Pennsylvania. Whether we should boast or lament over the situation, it is at least a fact that no other state equals Pennsylvania either in number of authorities or in size of borrowings.

These agencies represent an operation which should be kept under the public's watchful eye. Since voters can't directly say who shall run them, they should make it their business to keep well informed concerning their functioning.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Behind The Billboards

The federal road bill approved by the Senate will provide not only needed highways, but jobs which, as of today, are even more urgently needed. Over a two-year period this legislation, when adopted by the House, will make $5,500,000,000 available to the states on a 90-10 matching basis.

In adopting the measure the Senate wisely gave consideration to the aesthetic as well as the economic aspects of the program. Included is an incentive provision designed to reward states which meet federal standards of control for billboards along most of the new routes. Thus cooperating states will be rewarded by a bonus of one-half of one per cent of the federal grants, applicable to an estimated 65 per cent of the system.

The anti-billboard provision survived in the Senate only after a hard fight which is certain to be renewed in the House. The billboard lobby is highly organized, resourceful, and is playing all the old records from states' rights to free speech.

It was able to exclude from the measure any outright ban on billboards. Moreover, the Senate bill exempts from billboard control those sections of the new program which are to be built over rights of way already in existence. Of itself this is a major concession which accounts for 35 per cent of the system.

Motorists have only to drive along such routes as Garden State Parkway and the New York Thruway to realize what life on the road can be like without the eyesores that hide the scenery on most highways. For behind those billboards lies America, which we are always admonished to see first. Therefore, the traveling public must hope that the House, and subsequently the states, will meet the billboard issue as sensibly and squarely as the Senate has done.—Newark News

The Pennsylvania Story

Looking To November

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — One of the most significant and interesting notes of the present primary campaign in Pennsylvania is the fact that the campaign actually is not destined to be conducted in "primary" fashion.

At least this is the case insofar as the so-called "organization" states of both parties are concerned.

Pennsylvanians will find as the campaign path becomes more and more pulverized that contrary to the general primary campaign concept, Republicans and Democrats actually will be waging a general election type of fistfight.

It is coincidental of course that both Republicans and Democrats should hit upon virtually the same strategy in this campaign, although in a sense it is quite understandable.

To begin with, there are some two dozen candidate hopefuls stumbling over each other in a vain quest for one of the four statewide offices at stake this year — U. S. Senator, Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs.

Grand Free-for-All

In both the Democratic and Republican parties this year the old pols of each who habitually call the shots over their ash-splattered vests found themselves in the somewhat horrifying position of being unable to quell "rebel" opposition.

The net result has been the formidable array of chattering aspirants for the four top offices.

Pennsylvanians will find as the primary fracas progresses that the organization states of both parties will be pot-shotting at each other — rather than the candidates within their own party who in theory at least they are trying to best.

A check with top strategists of both parties around Capitol Hill reveals why this unusual condition exists.

In the first place, for the organization states to attempt to take on the multi-list batch of clamoring hopefuls is indeed an almost hopeless task from the beginning.

There are simply too many candidates with which to cross swords — an affair that unquestionably would end up in even more organized confusion than now exists.

It will be found that organization states instead will adopt somewhat of a down-the-nose attitude toward anti-organization upstarts — somewhat akin to a flea bite on the hide of an elephant, or a donkey in the case of Democrats.

Secondly, both organization states actually are fairly confident they will emerge on top of the candidate pile when the May 20 primary dust blows away.

Thus they are concerned not so much with fighting for a victory many believe they already have in their grasp — but prepping instead for the impending no-holds-barred slugfest strictly between Democrats and Republicans this fall.

As a matter of fact this course already has been set.

The campaign boomings to date of both Republicans and Democrats insofar as the organization candidates are concerned have centered almost exclusively around what is wrong with Democrats as opposed to Republicans — rather than with the ideologies of the various candidates within each party.

It points up the most significant fact that top leaders on both sides of the fence realize only too well that in 1958 they have on their hands what undoubtedly will emerge as the battle of the century insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned.

Both are fairly well matched, when considering all the pluses and minuses, for the first time.

No Wonder!

George Sokolsky Says...

Report To Public

The story of how business operates, how they meet their problems, is often as dramatic as the who-dunnits that I look at late at night. Therefore I have sometimes wondered how it happens that companies that spend millions of dollars on television do not use their commercials to sell something about themselves, particularly the capital and durable goods manufacturers who do not sell to the consumer directly.

The United States Steel Hour has recently been using its commercial time to explain what it is and how it does business and if we are to have good plays interrupted in this manner, I prefer something really informative to watching a three-quarters naked female lie in the sand and sing about beer or cigarettes or bras.

The subject matter of U.S. Steel's "Report to the Public" is very instructive. We pay 7 1/2 cents a pound on the average for carbon and alloy steel.

So that amounts up to about $4,000,000,000 a year and looks very big. Of each dollar, 42 1/2 cents goes to wages and salaries. Of the remaining 57 1/2 cents, 30 cents went to 50,000 suppliers of products and services.

That left 27 1/2 cents of which 6 cents went to depreciation which really should be called "wearing-out," which is what happens to machines as well as men, only the government recognizes the facts of life about machines but not about human beings.

So we are now down to 21 1/2 cents but Federal, state and local taxes took 12 cents of that leaving only 9 1/2 cents to gross profit out of every dollar earned.

Only 4 Percent
Now, if the company could keep that 9 1/2 cents as a real profit, it would be doing a very big business, but what actually happens is that it sets aside 2 cents additional for research and improvements and such activities and comes out in the end 4 cents on the dollar of profit which goes to 300,000 share owners of whom not one owns more than 2 per cent of the stock.

It is a very valuable kind of report and would do more good abroad than much of the stuff that goes over to Europe, Asia and Africa these days.

Another of these commercials deals with the problem of inflation. All costs, including labor costs, went up an average of 8 1/2 per cent per year since 1940 but prices only went up 5 1/2 per cent.

The rest of the commercial explains how a company manipulates to avoid being out-priced in the market. But the commercial I liked best when I heard it was the one on obsolescence.

Here is a machine, one machine that cost $10,000,000. That is why some industrial operations cannot be done on a small scale. If a steel company owns five open hearth furnaces, they might have cost $50,000,000, 25 years ago. The government permits the company to take off part of cost each year so that when the machine wears out, it can be replaced.

But at today's prices that machine costs $45,000,000. So where does a company get the money to make up the difference between the $10,000,000 it was permitted by the tax collector to set aside for replacement and the $35,000,000 that it has to find?

Well, some of it is that 2 cents additional set aside out of each earned dollar. But much of it comes from borrowing from banks, insurance companies and the public.

You may have noticed... when you look at railroad trains or locomotives that there are signs showing that the particular car or locomotive is not owned by the railroad but by a bank which acts as a trustee.

We do not yet see such signs on machinery in factories, but anything can happen when so large a share of earned income goes to taxes and the taxes are wastefully and profitably spent.

The reason that the Administration, which knows as well as you or I that taxes must be cut, postpones that day is that they know that, short of war, the politicians will not be able to put the taxes back once they are taken off.

Government will have to cut its cloth to fit its pocket-book; all sorts of useless and duplicative activities, described in the Hoover Reports and testified to before Congressional Committees, will have to go. Nothing would be better for the country.

Try and Stop Me — by Bennet Cerf

The dean of a girls' school in New Orleans could not cure his students of a dangerous habit of crossing an important traffic artery right in front of good at all. But then the wise dean had a sign painted and set up in the middle of the block — and immediately every girl walked carefully to the corner before stepping off the sidewalk.

What did the sign say? "Cattle Crossing!"

Jane Gaskell, author of a best-selling novel in England when only 15 years old, was asked what her book was about. "It's a bit difficult to remember," confessed Jane. I wrote it when I was 14!"

Away back in 1859 "A Manual of Politeness," dished out this fascinating bit of advice: "When dinner is announced, the host should rise, invite his guests to follow him to the dining room, and set the example by passing out first."

Robert S. Allen Reports...

New-Drug Research Encouraging

Editors Note: This is the first of an exclusive and intensely interesting two-part series on remarkable developments last year in U.S. medical research.

Washington — "Encouraging results were achieved in 1957 in the far-flung battle against cancer and heart disease."

This decorously professional summary is the thrilling highlight of one of the most significant medical publications in years — the comprehensive report that the National Institutes of Health, world-famed research center, is sending to Congress.

Titled "Highlights of Medical Research for 1957," the 249-page volume details the numerous impressive activities of NIH and other specialists throughout the country in testing and developing new drugs and operative procedures to combat the great killers of mankind.

Against cancer, seven new drugs are cited as offering real promise.

Two other drugs are listed as potentially effective for treating high blood pressure (hypertension).

A "major breakthrough in surgery" is singled out as a particularly notable advance in the fight against heart disease. Designation of this new procedure is "the golf tee operation."

The promising anti-cancer drugs named in the NIH report are: Methotrexate, Mytatrienediol, 6-Azauracil, CB-2348, Colcemide, Myleran, SM-1.

While encouraging about these drugs, the report carefully stresses that "surgery and radiation continue to be the most effective means of treating cancer."

Their Record So Far — During 1957, these seven drugs were tested on many human patients.

One other drug, the so-called tranquilizer Reserpine, was tried experimentally on mice with good results. Human tests are now underway.

Following are brief summaries of the reports on these anti-cancer drugs:

Methotrexate: "Scientists of the NIH Endocrinology Branch achieved encouraging results with this drug in a newly-devised dosage, in the treatment of the highly malignant choriocarcinoma, a cancer which usually kills the patient in less than one year. Doctors Min C. Li, Donald Spencer, Roy Hertz and Herbert Lubs report results obtained in the treatment of four women patients. Three of them showed apparently complete suppression of cancer for 12, 13, and 17 months, respectively. The fourth has been recently treated and her cancer similarly regressed."

Mytatrienediol: "A newly synthesized drug which has been found to be effective against several types of human cancer, including myeloma and prostate cancer. A multiple myeloma patient who had been bedridden for six months became ambulatory on the 10th day of treatment."

6-Azauracil: "Promising results from the use of this drug were reported by Dr. B. L. Shneider, General Medicine Branch, to a group of 44 patients, including adults and children afflicted with various types of cancer, including leukemia. Important therapeutic effects were noted in the acute leukemia cases, most of whom were children; one-third of these patients showed improvement."

CB-2348: "Encouraging results from the use of this compound have been reported by Dr. H. R. Bierman, City of Hope Medical Center, Duarte, Calif. The prompt action of CB-2348 in several patients suggests that it may be a helpful agent in the management of certain types of leukemia."

Colcemide: "Tests with 60 patients over three years indicate this drug produced favorable responses in six patients with chronic myeloid leukemia, a cancer of the bone marrow."

Myleran: "This drug is an effective agent for palliative treatment of the blood cancer, chronic granulocytic leukemia."

SM-1: "Dr. Nicholas Petrakis, University of California School of Medicine, reports this compound has been tested in clinical trials involving 54 patients with various types of advanced cancer. It was found effective in eight patients with Hodgkin's disease and lymphosarcoma."

Reserpine: "Dr. Abraham Goldin, Laboratory of Chemical Pharmacology, found that a single treatment with this drug produced an almost three-fold increase in the survival time of mice with advanced leukemia. The mechanism by which Reserpine exerts its anti-leukemic action is not known."

Anti-Hypertension — Distinctly promising results were obtained in numerous tests on human patients with the two anti-high blood pressure drugs. The NIH report on them is as follows:

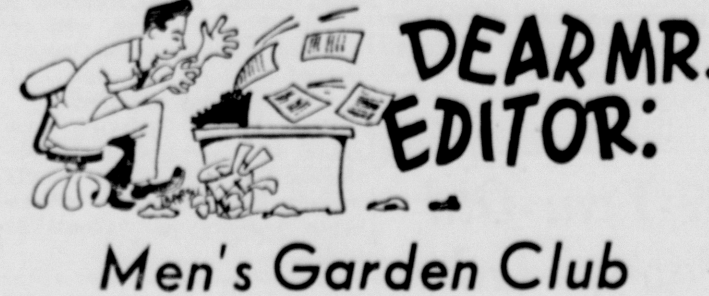

Chlorothiazide: "A powerful diuretic recently introduced for the treatment of edema, has also been shown to possess blood-pressure lowering properties valuable in the treatment of hypertension. On the basis of independent studies in normal persons and hypertensive patients, two separate groups of scientists have found that Chlorothiazide not only lowers blood pressure by direct action when used alone, but also greatly enhances the effectiveness of other anti-hypertension measures when used in combination with them."

Tetrahydrozoline: "Has been found to dilate blood vessels and lower blood pressure in humans. When the drug was given by mouth to 35 patients, the investigators noted no increase in blood pressure at all — only decrease, which was seen in all but seven of the 34."

Heart Story — The major breakthrough in heart surgery is described in the NIH report as follows:

"The new procedure, called the golf tee operation because a tee-shaped device of pressed plastic sponge is used to plug the rupture, was devised by Dr. Andrew Morrow, chief of the Clinic of Surgery, and successfully performed by him on patients at the National Heart Institute. The patients, doomed to progressive heart failure without the operation, were freed of all symptoms and are now leading fully active lives."

(Tomorrow, the second part of this important series will report the latest research developments in combating arthritis, diabetes, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, and allergies.)

Ferguson Accepts Challenge

"Naked To Mine Enemies," a Life of Cardinal Wolsey, by Charles W. Ferguson, Little, Brown, and Company, Boston, 1958, $6.00.

By William L. Smyser Professor of History East Stroudsburg

The stubborn vogue of the historical novel is all very well, but here is a true and faithful biography which makes fiction seem anaemic.

Like the story of Hamlet, the tale of the butcher's son who became a monarch

Lord Chancellor of England and who played kings and emperors against each other as if they had been chess pieces still touches every emotion. Also it tempts many a good writer, including the present author of "Naked To Mine Enemies," Charles W. Ferguson.

Mr. Ferguson has accepted the challenge of treating material which Shakespeare himself, in "Henry VIII," made classical, and which sure great historians as Pollard and Brewer and Fisher reshaped in volumes which have become in their turn classics.

It is a gamble to set out along a path such men have trod, but Mr. Ferguson wins. His story has breadth enough to make us feel the mood and movement of events in 16th Century Europe, the menace of the Turk, the problems of the Pope, the strutting vanity and lust and patriotism of Henry.

Writes With Sympathy

But best of all, this author understands what makes the Chancellor work. Mr. Ferguson writes with sympathy of Catherine the Queen, of Anne Boleyn who replaces her and who costs Wolsey his power, of Lollards and Lutherans and kings and popes and common people, but he never lets Wolsey leave the center of his stage, and he has drawn a magnificent portrait.

Wolsey is the hero, Wolsey planning his palaces, Wolsey drawing up schemes for educating the promising youth of England, Wolsey at his best on the Field of the Cloth of Gold, Wolsey holding the balance of power for all Europe in his hand, and then Wolsey is disgraced, actually speaking the words which Shakespeare took from the chronicles:

"Had I but served my God with half the zeal I served my king, He would not in mine age Have left me naked to mine enemies."

This is a book to read, to enjoy, to cherish, a novel and a tragedy in one.

APRIL MADNESS is the provocative name given to this Walt Wyckoff original from his Spring 1958 collection. The popular sack look is emphasized by his use of burlap in a neutral tone, lending a homespun look. He has cleverly manipulated the diagonal seams to give a sense of ease and flowing movement. The low belt with the flat bow is of roller shade fabric. Adding sophistication is the handpainted design in front, and the hand-stamped design in back with its touch of whimsy. "No Hooks", Blanche Mackey, top model of whimsy, was placed against a background of tired Easter lilies and wilted hydrangea to emphasize the relaxed, devil-may-care mood of the new fashions by a man who hates the sack look.

Just Between Us—

—By Bobby Westbrook

When 'April Fool' I try to call, I'm always the biggest fool of all. I don't remember an April Fool joke that didn't backfire on me, but this is the first one that backfired before even I'd pulled it.

Mac and I were maneuvering Blanche Mackey around in her grain sack, trying to make it look as silly as possible, when the women started gathering round, attracted by "that clever chemise dress with cute back". They thought it was silk shantung.

It wasn't until they got within five feet that they realized their mistake. If we could have hoped Blanche off we probably could have taken orders for half a dozen.

Even funnier was trying to make Blanche look silly in the new cloche hats—she just looked smart. Anyway it was fun, and added a gay note to a very relaxed and misty day.

I don't need a calendar, thermometer or light-meter, however, to tell that Spring is really here. All of a sudden the usual number of wedding licenses doubles, and the engagements start multiplying.

You begin getting notices of spring concerts in the schools, and annual meetings of the organizations. Nominating committees are sprouting faster than the croci and all committee chairmen are sighing deep, long and very audible sighs.

Well, it's no time to be weary in well-doing with two more months of club work to go, and no time for sitting around gossiping with all the pre-Easter cleaning to do. But let's anyway, shall we?

MR. AND Mrs. Francis M. Marvin and Mr. and Mrs. James Hawk arrived home on March 27 after a three week vacation much of which was spent in Florida. They had a most enjoyable time although the weather was disappointing. The group traveled as far south as Fort Meyers, Florida, and even there found the palms brown instead of green this winter. Honesty Is Paying Off For Antique Shop Owner

By Anne Heywood

We may not admit it, but most of us have a conviction that making money in our present society requires a dog-eat-dog philosophy.

As one blunt teen-age boy put it to me recently, "I can't decide whether to be honest, and not make much money, or to just go ahead and make dough."

Honesty Is Best

Yet my experience has been that, while the ruthless person may pile up money in the beginning, it is the honest person who makes it and keeps it in the long run.

As an example, of that, I think of Ethyl Bland (Mrs. William Marshall Bland) who runs an antique and gift shop in Portsmouth, Va. She has been a reader of mine for some time, and I have watched her shop grow.

She has a policy of truthfulness in a field where many fancy falsehoods are considered to be part of the game. She also has a generosity to her so-called competitors which seems, at first glance, not very business-like. However, this combination of honesty and co-operativeness has caused Mrs. Bland's business to grow steadily.

Recent Letter

Here are some things she says in her most recent letter to me: "Every day seems to bring some new experience."

"One day last week, a man called for Carnival glass. He said he was from out of town and wanted a piece for his mother who collects it. I do not carry it, but I referred him to another shop that does."

"Then another time, somebody phoned for Onion glass, which is quite expensive and rare, and I happened to know of a shop that carried it."

"It is amazing and interesting to learn of the many collectors and the sometimes strange items that are being collected."

Antique Paperweight

"Several weeks ago, two very interesting people came to my shop looking for an antique glass paperweight. They had been to most of the shops in Norfolk and Portsmouth without finding what they wanted and one of the shops referred them to me. I had what they were looking for, and next morning my paperweight was on its way to Utah by plane.

"I find that being honest with my customers is paying off. Most of them will believe anything you tell them—bless their hearts."

"They will ask, 'Is this old?' 'If it is, I tell them so. But if

Money Ruthlessly Made Is Often Hard To Keep

I am doubtful about the article, I tell them that, too, and they really appreciate it."

Shop Grew Quickly

"It is surprising how quickly a small shop grows."

"I first thought I would confine mine to my dining room but—like Topsy—it grew and grew. I have now removed my personal belongings from both dining and sitting rooms and it looks very much like the living room will be next."

As I say, while it is possible to make money, in the beginning, by being dishonest and uncooperative, I have found that in the long run, the money is made by those who are honest and cooperative. Over and above this, of course, is the lack of tension, anxiety and ulcers!

Local Residents Escape Fire In N. Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harmon of LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery, now in North Carolina where Mr. Harmon is supervising the nursery operations there, were routed from their cottage at Shadylawn, Newlands, North Carolina by a fire which totally destroyed the main hotel.

In the fire, one of the tenants was burned to death. The Harmon's were able to return after the fire and salvage their belongings in the cottage. Although the cottage was located very near the hotel and next to a big oil tank, it escaped the fire.

The Harmon's are now staying in Linville, N.C., Box 110, and plan to be returning very soon. They report that the weather has been miserable with 16 days of steady rain, snow or sleet.

PELICAN ISLAND

OFF THE east coast of Florida lies Pelican island, an area set aside by the federal government for the birds who stuff fish in pouches. The United States Fish and Wildlife service administers this area, the forerunner of the largest refuge system maintained by any government. Pelican island, situated in the Indian river, in a maze of Florida mangrove, marks America's awakening from long and expensive indifference to the destruction of her valuable natural resources. The pelican, finest Florida fisherman, takes advantage of thermal winds as it expertly dives from altitudes of 30 feet right on the target.

Awkward on land, pelican is graceful while in air.

Schroeder, Oldest Depot Employee, Retires At 72

TOBYHANNA—The oldest employee at the Tobyhanna Signal Depot retired yesterday. He is 72-year-old Sam Schroeder, of Tannersville, who began his Federal employment in Baltimore 15 years ago.

Seventy is the compulsory retirement age for U. S. Government employees, but exceptions are made for those with less than 15 years service. Length of service is a key factor in figuring Federal retirement annuities.

Sam is one fellow who has not looked forward to his retirement. "I've always seen my job as a challenge," Sam said yesterday. "I enjoyed working for the Government."

As a supply inspector, Sam's chief responsibility was to see that equipment was in working order before it left the depot. "My attitude," he said, "was that somebody's life may depend on the kind of job I did."

Honored By Co-Workers
At a testimonial dinner in his honor Saturday night at the Tannersville Inn, approximately 100 of his co-workers heard Martin Mortensen, supervisory inspector at the depot, praise Sam for "his fine attitude towards the Signal Corps supply system."

"Sam," Mortensen said, "has a fine personality and a wonderful approach for meeting and dealing with people at all levels."

Sam was born on a farm near Baltimore, Md., on March 9, 1886. After attending the public schools in that city, he entered the budding automobile business as office manager. The year was 1910. By 1915, he was ready to branch out for himself. He obtained one of the first dealerships for such cars as Overland, Willys-Knight and Chevrolet.

During World War I, he added motor trucks to his dealership and that became his chief activity during the "20's." He remained in the motor vehicle business until the outbreak of World War II, when the curtailment in civilian auto and truck production forced Sam to look elsewhere for his livelihood.

New Career
At age 37, he began a new career as civilian ordnance instructor at Fort Holabird, Md. He later transferred to the Air Force, then to the Corps of Engineers, and at the end of World War II joined the War Assets Administration as contract termination officer.

In 1948, he went to work for the Baltimore Signal Depot as inspector, and in October, 1954, transferred to Tobyhanna.

Sam's family consists of his wife, Emma, a married daughter and three grandchildren. He will continue to reside in Tannersville for the present.

OFF THE RECORD

By Bob Clark Sports Editor

JIM RILEY, the Daily Record's hospitalized city editor, received a surprise visit from two well-known East Stroudsburg sports figures Saturday.

Jim, a patient at University of Pennsylvania's Graduate Hospital, Philadelphia, woke up from a siesta Saturday afternoon to find Doug Schoonover, Eastburg's court coach, and Jim Kindrew, the Cavaliers' top scorer this past season, staring him straight in the eyes.

Schoonover and Kindrew were on their way to the PIAA's Class A final at the Penn Palestra and took time out to stop off and visit Riley.

Naturally, Schoonover, a good friend of the former Record sports editor, ribbed the Tannersville resident for "sleeping" his time away. It was all in good fun and The Life Of enjoyed the get-together immensely.

Jim also had another visitor in the person of Ruth Brown, East Stroudsburg State Teachers faculty member. Miss Brown stopped in the Quaker City on business, heard of Riley's hospitalization and stopped off for a short chat with the friend of many.

Nancy Westbrook, young 'un of Our Bobby, and her Cedar Crest College "little sister" Pat Reese were the guests of Dayton's All-America courtman Frank Case and another Flyer—Don Lane—in New York when the mid-westerners were vying for the National Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

The collegiate quartet toured the Gotham Friday evening, taking in all the sights of the Big City.

Saturday, though, Dayton, top-seeded and natural choice to cop the NIT, lost to upset-minded Xavier in the finals.

Dave Nevill's teammate—Don Nolan—at Lehigh the past two years signed a one-year contract with the Washington Redskins of the National Professional Football League.

The former Stroudsburg High star and Nolan worked together on many air sorties while Nevill was operating from end and Dan from quarterback for the Engineers.

Nolan now joins "Skins" quarterback Eddie LeBaron, Ralph Guglielmi and Rudy Bukich fighting for the Number One signal-calling post.

QUICK PICKUPS:

Johnny Welsch, former Senator outfielder who once managed in the Nat farm system, now works as a promotion man in the Washington front office.

Though Ted Williams edged Mickey Mantle out of the American League batting championship in 1957 by hitting .388 to Mantle's .365, the latter took night hitting honors from the big Boston star, .381 to .370. In afternoon competition, Williams batted .397 to Mantle's .357.

BOWLING TIDBITS:

Commercial "B" League—The three best matches were Sam Zaccaro, 365; Tom Sommers, 552, and James Harmon Jr., 552. Sommers still leads the league in average with 189. Next in order are Oscar Stuckey, 185; James Harmon Jr., 185 and Joe Hodgson 184.

Monroe Classic League—Four bowlers were in the 600 class. Jake Nittel had his best match of the year; all games over 200 and a series of 635. Dick Andrews had 624, Steve Balick 620 and Frank Laise 604.

Jack Darr went back into first place in average. He has an average of 192 and leads Oscar Stuckey by 9 pins. The next three bowlers in contention are Tom Sommers, Jake Nittel and Bob Weisenflue. They have an average of 189.

Monroe County League—Don Hartman had the best match of the evening, a series of 586. Louis Gray had a 583. Ken Fetherman remains in first place for average with 184. Angelo J. DeSanto has 182 and Louis Gray 180.

'I Like Snead,' Noise At Masters

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A warmup round of 67 stirred new interest Monday in the "I Like Sam Snead" club, but Sambo himself is playing it modest. He picks Ken Venturi as the next Masters golf champion.

"I've been having trouble with my irons for about five weeks," said the drawing slugger from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. "I can't get the ball close enough to the hole, and I can't buy a putt."

Snead whipped around Augusta National's picturesque acres in 32-35-67, five under par, and sent a chilling wave through the ranks of the world's best golfers, who tee off in the 22nd Masters Tournament Thursday.

"I don't care what tournament it is, if you don't pick Snead you've got rocks in the head," said Jimmy Demaret, the only man besides Snead to win three Masters crowns.

"I have to buy that," said Ed Furgol, the lame-armed former National Open champion. "You can never pick against Snead."

Dick Mayer, the golfing capitalist who won the National Open and Tam O'Shanter's "world" titles last year, discounted his own chances because of staleness.

Snead played nine holes with his old rival, Ben Hogan, Sunday and couldn't be convinced that the once-feared Texas Hawk is the deadly killer of other years.

Not Driving Good

"Ben is not driving as well as he once did," Sam said. "He was in a lot of trouble, but his putting was great. He sank some real snakes."

"But I figure the boy to watch is Venturi. I haven't played much with him, but from what they say he's going strong. He's eager and he's got the game."

Celts Place Sharmon And Cousy On 'All'

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics, defending champions, placed Bob Cousy and Bill Sharmon on the National Basketball Assn. 1958 All-Star team announced Monday.

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons and Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals completed the first team selected by sportswriters and sportscoasters in NBA cities. They were instructed to make their choices on the basis of three fourcourt and two back-court players.

Gola on 2nd

Big Bill Russell, Boston's rebounding ace, was named on the second team along with Tom Gola of the Philadelphia Warriors. Maurice Stokes of the Cincinnati Royals and Cliff Hagan and Slater Martin, both of St. Louis.

Woody Sauldsberry of the Philadelphia Warriors was voted Rookie of the Year.

A's Top Tigers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ray Herbert worked his way out of jams in the eighth and ninth innings Monday, protecting a one-run lead and enabling Kansas City to defeat Detroit 5-4 in an exhibition baseball game.

Kansas City had a 5-1 lead after six innings but Harvey Kuenn whittled the margin with a three-run homer in the seventh off Duke Maas.

Herbert, replacing Maas, let runners get to second and third with two out in the eighth but then retired Billy Martin on a bounce to third.

The Braves jumped on George Witt for three runs on three hits in the third inning. One of the hits was a two-run homer by Earl Hersh.

Lew Burdette yielded only one hit and no runs over the first four innings.

Milwaukee (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth inning Monday to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 4-3 and run their only winning streak of the spring to three games.

Frank Thomas tied the score in the final frame with a homer off Bob Bush, who was tagged with the loss. Bob Clemente reached first on Red Schoendienst's error, advanced to second on a sacrifice and scored on Hank Foiles' single.

The Braves jumped on George Witt for three runs on three hits in the third inning. One of the hits was a two-run homer by Earl Hersh.

Lew Burdette yielded only one hit and no runs over the first four innings.

One-Hit Cards

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Billy Pierce, pitching the first seven innings, and Jim Wilson limited the St. Louis Cardinals to one hit Monday as the Chicago White Sox took a 7-0 victory in the opener of a doubleheader.

Pierce yielded only a sharp single by Wally Moon and served out one walk. Wilson held the Cards hitless in the last two innings.

Jim Landis homered for the Sox in the fourth and Jim Rivera slammed a three-run homer off Herm Wehmeier during a four-run seventh that gave Chicago a 6-0 bulge.

St. Louis won the six-inning second game 7-5. Four White Sox errors didn't help matters.

Wilson started the nightcap and was clipped for all seven Cardinals runs, although three of them were unearned.

Ted's Stand-in 'Hot'

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams' stand-in, Gene Stephens, continued on his hitting spree, punching out three hits in four trips and his second home run of the spring Monday as the Boston Red Sox chalked up their eighth straight victory, an 8-3 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Stephens had a pair of RBI's and a big assist from Pete Runnels, who had four singles in five trips in the 10-hit Boston offense.

Pinch-hitter Neil Chrishley doubled home a pair of Washington runs off starter and winner Al Schroll.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Southpaw ace Herb Score and righthander Ray Narleski limited San Francisco to four hits Monday as the Cleveland Indians whipped the Giants 5-2 in a baseball exhibition game.

Three of the hits came off Score, who worked five innings, and only one off Narleski in four.

Preston Ward and Gene Woodling hit homers for the Tribe.

The Indians jumped San Francisco starter Paul Giel for six runs before he left the mound with one out in the third.

Score ran his string of runless innings to 11 before infielder Daryl Spencer pounded a home run and Jim Davenport tripled in another run in the fifth.

Set To Adopt NAIA Rules

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Teachers College Athletic Conference voted Monday to play all 1958 conference football games under NAIA rules.

All 14 teachers colleges, including Kutztown, which was reaccepted after dropping out last November, had representatives at the meeting.

The delegates also adopted Sept. 1 as the first date that any conference member can hold a football practice session. Until now the schools could open practice on Sept. 1 or three weeks before the first game which ever was earliest.

Rotation Date

The prevailing rotation schedule being used by the schools in football will be continued and a rotation schedule will be started in 1960 for conference basketball teams.

The following officers were re-elected: Waldo S. Tiffin, Clarion, president; Eugene Hester, California, vice president; Jack Roddick, Shippensburg, secretary-treasurer.

Cub Goes Route

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Dave Hillman became the first Chicago Cub pitcher to go nine innings Monday when he hurled a brilliant 1-0 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Hillman, who won 6 and lost 11 last year, limited Baltimore to three hits. He had a one-hitter going into the eighth when Baltimore added two singles.

Keep Your Hook Youngsters, Joe Norris started with what's called a "bender" — a sweeping curve ball from a wide angle into the strike pocket. But he didn't hit the pocket very often.

When he cut down the break by eliminating wrist turn and adding speed, he became one of bowling's bests.

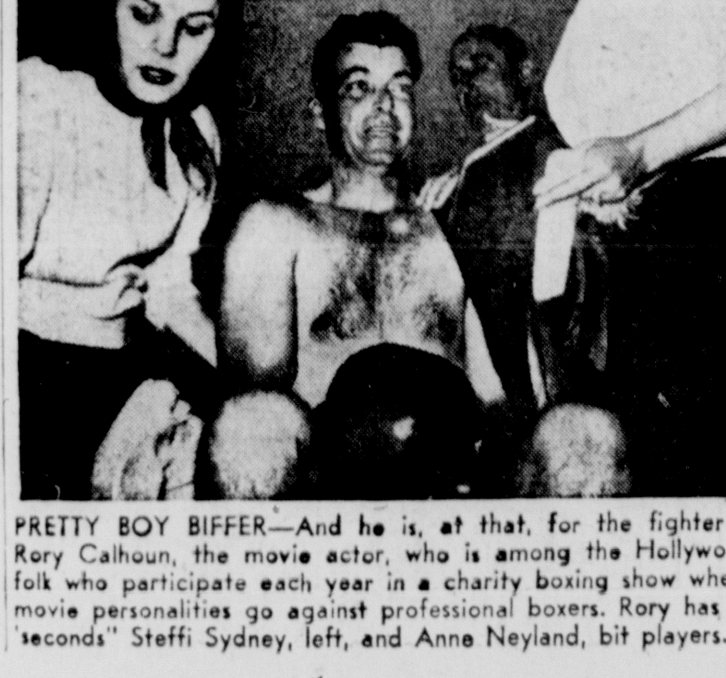

There are two reasons today for keeping the hook reasonably short: 1) Control boards easy by "crossing fewer boards" and 2) most major tournaments are bowled across alleys, rather than on one pair as in the old days.

Why not try the Norris method of picking a board on which to deliver the ball? Top bowlers today are about equally divided between the "board" system and "spotting" (You spot by releasing the ball just over the foul line.)

Board Method

Having tried both methods, I suggest that you first use the board method (see sketch) because with it, you'll be able to swing through more freely, applying spin with an easy arm-lifting motion as you release the ball. With a shorter break, your control will be better and you'll get a more direct, straighter angle for the 1-3 strike pocket.

Practice alone can determine what board to pick, and that depends on how much speed you use. But by all means, keep down the hook break as much as possible.

Dietrick was named public activities chairman, and Kimble head of the publicity.

Hill Climbs Date

The organization set May 15 and 17 as the date for the third annual Fox Gap Hill Climb, with the race being held one-half mile south of Route 611 on Route 90.

A maximum of 100 entries for the climb was established.

Plans were discussed for a road race this summer on the road adjoining Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

Also under discussion was a proposed sports cars-antique show in Stroudsburg this summer.

The group set the last Monday of every month as regular meeting nights.

An invitation also was extended to new members. Those wishing further information are requested to contact Keiper or Krawitz.

Jay 'Rocks' Gives Brave Rook Lesson

BRANDENTON, Fla.—When Joey Jay first came up to the Braves as a raw rookie with a $40,000 bonus check in his pocket, he was guilty of two 'rocks' which taught him a lesson.

One day in Cincinnati Joey sleepily scanned the Braves schedule and noted a night game. So Joey went to an afternoon movie. When he came home, he was much chagrined to find out that the Braves and Redlegs had already played—an afternoon game.

Later, Joey was returning to the Braves' hotel in New York from a game in Ebbets Field. Joey fell asleep on the bus and when the bus arrived at the hotel, the rest of the players just let him sleep. He awoke, sometime later, to enter the hotel feeling like two cents, not 40,000 bucks.

Joey is alert today. He was last year, too, when he compiled a 17-10 record with the Wichita club, the third time he has been sent out. Now he's in the Braves' camp here, one of the most promising of the young players and expected to stick.

20,000 To See 2-1 Underdog Mexican Face Feather King

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World Featherweight Champion Hogan Kid Bassey risks his title Tuesday night against knockout artist Ricardo Pajarito Moreno of Mexico in a fight expected by few to last the scheduled 15 rounds.

It is Bassey's first defense of the crown he earned last June in Paris when he stopped Cherif Hamia of France in the 10th round. The fight is scheduled for 12:45 a. m. EST in Wrigley Field.

If unsettled weather turns good as forecast, 20,000 or more fans are expected to pay $200,000 to see the fight, with the 25-year-old champion collecting a guarantee of $70,000. There will be no radio or television.

Bassey, unbeaten in 20 straight fights and a professional fighter since 1949, is the betting favorite at odds of 2-1.

But Moreno, the 21-year-old challenger from Mexico City, is unquestionably the boxoffice attraction.

8,000 Supporters

An estimated 8,000 of his countrymen will have swarmed into Los Angeles from Mexico City and even farther below the border, and additional thousands will sit in from the huge local Mexican colony.

"I shall not be bothered by my opponent's supporters. Perhaps they will be applauding for me before it is over."

So said the little fellow from the distant coast of West Africa, speaking the English he learned in school in Lagos and during his recent years of residence in London.

In the punching department, both fighters are essentially specialists with the left hook.

Bassey is far and away the better boxer, primarily because Pajarito (Little Bird) is simply a slugger and boasts an exciting record of 29 knockouts in 33 bouts.

Lacks Kid's Experience

Unquestionably Pajarito at 21 lacks the experience of Bassey's 61 professional fights and the champion's all-around craftsmanship. The likeable Mexican had been boxing only since 1954 as a pro.

But Moreno can match Bassey's aggressiveness and he cannot be surpassed if the thing develops into an all out back alley brawl.

Bassey has twice lost on technical knockouts because of cut eyes, and he has been legitimately on the floor at least twice, once in the Hamia engagement.

Will Live

"He is out of danger as far as life is concerned and his general condition is good," Dr. Floyd Bragdon, said Monday. "He eats and sleeps well and is alert. He'll probably be in the hospital until May and then we'll move him to a rehabilitation center to re-educate the muscles he cannot use."

Dick Kunkle, sports editor of the Waynesburg, Pa., Democrat Messenger, has started a "Tommy Walters Fund" to help defray medical expenses.

No Insurance

The high school did not have any insurance," Kunkle explained. "Tommy's father is working only two or three days a week in the mine. The United Mine Workers will pay some of the hospital expenses but we don't know how much."

The Mapletown High School pupils dug into their pockets. Canvassed the local area and contributed $800 to the fund, which now totals $2,160.

Grown Up

Manager Fred Haney says he likes Jay "a lot." "And," said Haney, "I think he's finally grown up." Jay, now 22 and in pro ball since 1953, also has grown up in business, too.

Joey, with his father, owns a 10-acre farm at Lutz, Fla., near here, and they have 5,000 chickens and a large orange grove. Joey spends his winters on the farm, helping his dad run the place.

Joey almost signed with Pittsburgh when the Pirates offered him $10,000 plus a chance to pitch every fourth day. However, the Braves' topped that, he thought, when they offered him $40,000 as a bonus for signing.

Signed in '53

He signed to play pro ball in 1953 and that season, and the next he stayed with the parent club because they couldn't farm him out.

Johnson Nips Palmer In Azalea Runoff

New Pro Aided By Penalty Latrobe Golfer Charged Self

By KEN ALTYA
WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Howie Johnson, aided by a penalty stroke Arnold Palmer called against himself, gained the first major tournament victory of his brief professional golfing career Monday, winning the Azalea Open playoff by one stroke.

Johnson, who turned pro in January, 1956, after selling insurance for six years, shot a 34-40-77, five over par for the 6,651-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. Palmer had a pair of 39s.

Victory was worth $2,000 to the 32-year-old Johnson, who plays out of Glenwood, Ill. Prior to today he had won only $1,578 in official money this year. Palmer's $1,500 runnerup check brought his year's total to $3,000.

Palmer, 28-year-old defending Azalea champion from Latrobe, Pa., charged himself with an extra stroke on the 14th green. He said his ball moved as he was preparing to putt the first time. The penalty gave the 1954 national amateur champion a five on the par-four hole. Johnson took a six on the same hole, using two shots to get out of a trap. That reduced his lead to two shots.

Palmer shaved one stroke off the lead with a par-three on the 18th but he lost two great stretch chances when he missed short putts. He three-putted No. 15, missing from two feet, and he missed from three feet on 17.

Johnson said later he "appreciated Arnie missing those putts."

Par 18th

Each had a parfour on the 18th hole, Johnson making a fine shot to the green from the rough. Palmer's second hit the edge of the green then rolled back, down below the putting surface.

Serious Bobby Bragan Faces Biggest Managerial Task Of Guiding Cleveland From Embarrassing 6th Spot

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—It is a serious Bobby Bragan who faces his biggest test as a major league manager and the task of pulling the Indians out of the embarrassing sixth place finish of 1957 in the American League.

Bragan has some tremendous problems to solve, such as the physical rehabilitation of two of the best pitchers in baseball, Bob Lemon and Herb Score.

And he has the major problem of installing the elementary doubleplay combination, something the Tribe lacked in dreadful fashion last year.

Another problem is the fractured ankle of veteran first baseman Vic Wertz, the Tribe's first field captain in nearly 20 years.

Wertz, who injured the ankle in Sunday's exhibition game with San Francisco, will be out of action for at least nine or 10 weeks.

On the credit side, Bobby has such established stars as Minnie Miñoso, Gene Woodling, Chico Carrasquel, Bobby Avila, Mike Garcia, Don Mossi, Ray Narleski, to name the best known.

(Pittsburgh was never like this.) Score was almost ruined professionally by a line drive to the face last May and Lemon won but six games because of a bad elbow that brought on surgery last winter.

Carrasquel, the artist, is set at shortstop, but Avila has been shifted from second to third.

Gamble on Rookie

The club now is gambling on Billy Moran to play second—Moran, a rookie from San Diego in the Pacific Coast League, who hit a meager .211 last year, but who astonished the camp by not only fielding in great manner but in hitting well.

Cleveland has a strong outfield in Monson, Woodling, Rocky Colavito, Roger Maris, Dick Williams and possibly rookie Dick Geiger.

Russ Nixon is a capable first string catcher.

Most observers look for better things than sixth for the Indians.

BASEBALL STARTS TODAY!

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
PHOENIX, Ariz.—Focus of the San Francisco Giants this year may really be getting the Willies. If Willie Kirkland can add a big bat to that of the incomparable Willie Mays.

It may not be enough, however, to lift the new San Francisco major leaguers into the first division, but Manager Bill Rigney is hoping he can do that.

Willie Kirkland, discharged from the Army last November, had a fabulous batting average sixth that year and again last season. However, whether he can hit for us, is for a magician to answer.

It's pretty much a new deal all around for the Giants this year, moving into a new city and a new ball park, but the same old faces are on hand.

"Our pitching," explained Rigney in an interview in the clubhouse on a rainy, rainy day in the Sunshine Capital, has been very good this spring.

"I'm especially impressed with Paul Giel who seems to be throwing faster. Also I like what I see in Joe Shipley and Ernie Broglio. We're hoping our starters, Johnny Antonelli, Ruben Gomez, Curt Barclay, Mike McCormick and Ramon Montant, will improve on their last year's record."

Giel is the former Minnesota football All-American who was in the service. Broglio won 17 for Dallas and Shipley split last season with Minneapolis and Springfield.

Antonelli, who could win but 12 last season, says he is hopeful of getting back to 20 this year. He was mentioned in trade rumors for the Giants but it's believed now he will stay with the club.

"I'm impressed with our first basemen," Rigney explained in going over his lineup. "Orlando Cepeda has a real chance. He hustles all the time. And I've got Ray Jablonski and Whitey Lockman if I need them. They can play other spots. Lockman has the best glove in camp."

Cepeda, a Puerto Rican, is on the Phoenix roster. He hit 25 home runs for Minneapolis last season.

"I think," added Rigney, "that we have a much better power potential lineup this year than we had at this time last year, based on how well Cepeda and Kirkland come along."

Catching Weak

The Giants' catching is a bit weak. Ray Katt, a .230 hitter, and Valmy Thomas, who hit .249, are the catchers. Thomas just underwent a tonsilectomy. The receiver's post may be won by Bob Schmidt, from Minneapolis, where he showed a bit of power by hitting 17 home runs and turning in a respectable average. Another rookie catching hopeful is Nick Testa, from Dallas.

The Giants' infield is an interchangeable one. First base is up for grabs with Danny O'Connell and Ed Bressoud at second, Jim Finigan, Jim Davenport and Jablonski at third and Daryl Spencer and Andre Rodgers at short.

Finigan came from the Tigers in a trade in which Gail Harris and Ossie Virgil went to that club. Davenport is a rookie, up from Minneapolis.

In the outfield the $70,000 beauty, Willie Mays, holds forth in center with right field, still contested. There are seven outfielders on deck, including Jim Rhodes, Hank Sauer, Bobby Thomson, Don Toussig and Kirkland.

Rigney plans to carry 11 pitchers and said he would rather carry spare infielders than pitchers.

NEXT: — The Cleveland Indians.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Tuesday, April 1, 1958

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A better day than you seem. If you look for the better things, the better means and the better attitude, you will do better. Your smart management could whip up some extra benefits. Try.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Do not forget the quiet gains we can and should build every day, which in the end make us the persons we become, to be able to take advantage of the good available, or to waste time and talent.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — No day to daily in your departments, either. Start being attracted by unwise schemes or persons not presenting things as they truly are. Over-quickness, sudden moves are taboo.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — The beginning of this month has unusual propitious planetary rays; your Moon is especially well aspected. Don't give one minute to time-consuming regrets or pessimism. Start and finish things. Actually your Venus aspect is very favorable, but the day requires greater cooperation.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Where you find non-cooperation and dissension, work to bring about union and sufficient amicableness to permit true progress. Dissenters are always ready for an ill wind.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Your natural eagerness and receptive capacities must be put to purely logical and intelligent work over and over from the vagaries and deception of hasty decisions and friction.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Much will depend upon the disposition and significance you place upon right things. Actually your Venus aspect is very favorable, but the day requires greater cooperation.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Do not permit others to cause you to delay from beginning and finishing what are your rightful activities and affairs. Allot time carefully at day's start; hold to wise schedule.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — By working up to a brisk tempo gradually and tending properly to small necessary details along the way, you will be effectively handling what could be an unenviable period. Think!

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Saturn's advantageous position urges action if deliberation and reasoning go beforehand and direct your course. Among highly favored: solving the mysteries; development of originality.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — And "your" planets assist, says work up to double-time where possible (not straining), of course to promote your rightful interests, gain new opportunities. Redem anything worthy.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Neptune now especially favors things to do with paints, oils, water, any liquid; inspirational matters; receptiveness, perception; confidential and scientific matters. Forward!

YOU BORN TODAY belong to a Sign particularly known for sturdy independence, ability to face odds and hurdle great obstacles, to remain cheerfully ambitious and help others keep pace with worthwhile progress. All this, of course, if living true to your God-given traits and curbing faults. If careful not to be rash in romance you can be notably successful. Can develop to high degree wit, endurance, muscular strength and adaptability. You like to, and can lead in activities demanding fearlessness. Don't dissipate good health; pray and depend upon those prayers. Birth-date of: William Harvey, English physician, discoverer of blood circulation.

Wishing Well is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Jobless Pay Check Delay Explained

THE HEAD of the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service said yesterday that in only a few instances are checks for unemployment compensation being delayed.

John Dougherty, office manager, explained that there is up to a four-week period during which an applicant cannot expect to receive checks after his initial appearance at the office.

Dougherty said that on the first visit the applicant merely applies for compensation. On the next week's visit, he certifies to a seven-day waiting period. One week later, the applicant signs for his first check and it should be received seven days after that.

Dougherty said delays may be caused by overpayments, an employer submitting a wrong social security number or if an applicant is found to be ineligible.

Theory behind the payments, Dougherty said, is that an applicant generally receives at least one week of severance pay from his employer and the Commonwealth feels this should tide him over until his unemployment checks begin to arrive.

Large Class Received Into Membership

MOUNTAINHOME — At the Mountainhome Methodist Church at the morning service on Palm Sunday, infants, children and adults were baptized, and a large class received into membership, by the pastor, Rev. Harold N. MacMurray.

The infants baptized were John J. Sengle Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sengle; Gary Wayne Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gates; and Martin Timothy Custard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Custard. The children baptized were Barbara Lee Brown, Thomas Clayton Brown, Daniel Lee Brown, Steven Earle Brown, Linda Dorothy Miller and Omar Minzo Smith; also Francis E. Clark Jr. and Elizabeth Jane Clark, who were joined in the sacrament by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Clark.

Profession of Faith
Others received into membership on profession of faith were Mrs. Lula A. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Clark and Mrs. Margaret E. Hardy. Those received by transfer from other churches were Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy C. Brown, Joseph Dunlap and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood E. Johnson.

At the evening service, the Senior Choir presented a musical service, under the direction of Mrs. John R. Nauman, with Mrs. Warren E. Miller at the organ. The opening number was the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." This was followed by "The Palms" and "Jerusalem," with the recitative section sung by Mrs. Martha M. Price and Mrs. Ethel Conley. Mrs. Nauman and Mrs. John R. Reisenwitz then sang "Calvary."

Two members of the choir took charge of the devotional program, Arch B. Shaller reading the Palm Sunday Gospel from Matthew, and John J. Sengle offering the prayer. The second portion of the program opened with "Alone in the Garden," with the trio section being sung by Mrs. Henry Shaller, Mrs. Arthur L. Reisenwitz Jr., and Mrs. Theodore M. Price. Three numbers by the choir completed the program: "Legende," "The Holy City" and "God So Loved the World."

Queen, Meg Go Riding
LONDON — Queen Elizabeth went riding with Princess Margaret Monday and if anybody had any hard feelings it certainly was not apparent.

The Queen and her young sister, whom London newspapers reported was "on the carpet" for her teatime tête-à-tête with Peter Townsend last Wednesday, rode through the rain in Windsor Great Park.

It appeared just a happy family party. Prince Charles and Princess Anne, the Queen's two children, joined in on their horses.

The Queen had been out of the country on a state visit to Holland. Several London newspapers said the princess-Townsend visit had been arranged by Margaret behind the Queen's back.

Margaret called off her romance with Townsend in 1955 because he is a divorced man and the Church of England frowns on divorce.

Christ Church To Conduct Service Saturday Night

REV. CHARLES A. PARK, rector, has announced that the first service of Easter at Christ Episcopal Church, N. Seventh St., Stroudsburg, will be held on Holy Saturday night, beginning at 10:45 p. m.

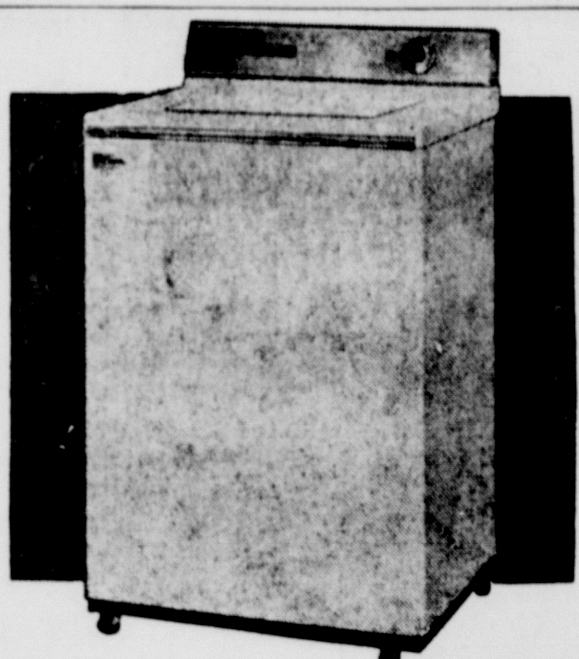

The Easter Even Service, consisting of the Lighting of the Paschal Candle, the Virgil, the Litany, the Blessing of the Font and Renewal of the Baptismal Vows, and the Holy Eucharist, has been prepared under the auspices of the Adult Division, Department of Christian Education of the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

It has been authorized for use in all the churches of the Diocese of Bethlehem of Bishop Warnecke.

Original Custom

Father Park said that having the first Eucharist of Easter begin at midnight was the original custom of the Church right from the beginning. Holy Saturday night was spent in the vigil of prayer and Bible reading (Old Testament) and preaching; then came the exorcising, baptizing and confirming of the catechumens; and then "very early in the morning on the first day of the week" the Easter Eucharist.

After that, the Christians went to their respective jobs since Sunday was not a holiday. About 50 years ago an Episcopal church in Washington, D.C., revived the Easter midnight service, the first church on this continent to do so other than the various Orthodox churches which have never lost the Easter Even service.
